A Fresh Outlook on the Clean Power Plan

Send questions to our panelists at webinar@synapse-energy.com

Hosted by: Dr. Elizabeth A. Stanton, Synapse Energy Economics

Presenters:

Sarah Jackson, Synapse Energy Economics

Kate Konschnik, Environmental Policy Initiative at Harvard Law School

Last week, the DC Circuit Court of Appeals brought the Clean Power Plan back into the spotlight, making the unusual move to hear the pending case in front of the entire nine-judge circuit. Synapse has highlighted the potential benefits of implementing the Clean Power Plan since its release last summer. On Thursday, May 26th, Synapse senior associate Sarah Jackson will be joined by Kate Konschnik of Harvard Law School's Environmental Policy Initiative to discuss the outlook for the Clean Power Plan, including why planning continues for a low-carbon future and what some states and utilities have been up to since the Clean Power Plan was put on hold by the Supreme Court earlier this year.

Want to team up with us?

Synapse provides:

- Economic and technical analysis
